Carrie Chapman Catt leads a group of suffragists in a New York City parade in the fall of 1917 to gain support for woman suffrage. The required constitutional amendment was finally ratified by the necessary 36 states and officially proclaimed on August 26, 1920. Mrs. Catt was president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, which was dissolved when women got the vote. The League of Women Voters was formed in its place.

Acting President's Column

The Nominating Committee (Gem Bingol, David Kirsten, Marilyn Naylor, Jean Sagan, and Denise Donnelly) has come up with an outstanding slate of Officers and Directors. I am very excited to work with this group of talented and accomplished women. Their bios, which had to be condensed because of space constraints, are on pages 16-17. Several current Board members have agreed to serve another term and we have three new Directors. I will miss Denise Moore and Robert Pierce, who are going off the Board.

Please plan to attend the Annual Meeting on June 1 at the Carver Center in Purcellville so you can meet your very active Board of Directors. There is so much the League can do to promote informed voting, but we need volunteers to assist with our many activities. There is no registration fee. Coffee, tea, and dessert will be provided.

Please let me know if you are interested in serving on the Board of Directors, as there are open appointed positions. It's going to be an exciting League year!

State, Local, & NCA News

The Richmond Times Dispatch printed an Op-ed by Olga Hernandez, President of the LWV VA on March 16. "Why Does GA [Virginia General Assembly] Partially Shield the Sunlight?" asked how the General Assembly could be more open by providing better citizen access. To read the editorial, go to www.lwvva.org/files/op_ed_march_08.pdf.

Ms. Hernandez also noted that for the first time in Virginia history women are leading 10 of the 24 standing committees in the General Assembly. In 400 years of legislative history, 76 women have served in the General Assembly - 61 in the House and 15 in the Senate. Currently, 14 women serve in the House and eight in the Senate.

LWVUS has partnered with the Newspaper in Education Institute to publish and provide free copies of Electing the President. This 29-page booklet, directed at students explains what an election is, describes the election process, discusses the role of the press in political life and elections, and includes social studies, civics, and government standards.

LWV Hosts 50 at Tea Featuring Susan Buckley

Susan Klimak Buckley, Vice Chair of the Loudoun Board of Supervisors, was the guest speaker at the LWV Tea on March 15. Ms. Buckley noted the significance of the female majority on the Board of Supervisors and that this was the 160th anniversary of the women's rights movement. "Education always was intended to be the gift from one generation to the next - so children could be better off than their parents. But it also was intended to be the great equalizer to level the playing field so Jane, an inner city kid, could compete with Dick, a kid from the suburbs, where Sally, who received free lunches at school would receive the same education as John, born into affluence," said Ms. Buckley. She spoke of the many state and federal mandates that our public schools must meet and the financial burden they impose. She noted the importance of investing in change, such as implementing innovative teacher networks for development and training and looking at Web based classrooms. "There's a debate raging between the Board of Supervisors and the School Board about the necessary funding for LCPS next year. But watch and listen closely because...you won't be witness to it again." She described the newly created standing committee, the Joint Board of Supervisor/School Board Committee, which has already begun laying the groundwork for the FY10 operating budget. "When the school budget represents almost 75% of the county budget, those budget processes should be brought together," she said.

Education

The League of Women Voters of Loudoun County supports adequate funding of public schools to ensure adequate teacher training and pay, safe and pleasant physical facilities, the development of well-rounded and challenging curricular and extra-curricular programs, and the development of special programs for at-risk children and schools.

More specifically, the LWVLC:

- Supports continuous curriculum units on Family Life Education for grades K-12.
- Supports the availability of adequate guidance services in public schools.
- Supports adequate funding for school libraries to maintain a high standard of quality.

 - is non-threatening
 - considers both a student's long-term and short-term performance
 - measures strengths and weaknesses of students, teachers and the system
 - considers class participation and in-class performance
 - utilizes a "portfolio" of various examples of a student's work
 - utilizes multiple assessments of a student's achievement

- Development guidelines that aspire to the highest community standards, are sensitive to the integrity of social, economic and natural systems and are in harmony with the county's character and goals.

- Implementation of open space and environmental protection policies.
- Public acquisition of open space easements, especially in critical environmental areas, areas of scenic, natural and historic significance, and agricultural lands.
- Implementation of a transportation plan that results in a pattern of development consistent with land use and fiscal policies, and with consideration for the health, safety and convenience of local citizens.
- Adherence to the planning process, as set forth in the Comprehensive Plan, the goals and purposes, as set forth in the Comprehensive Plan, and the following elements of the Comprehensive Plan in particular:
 - Preservation of the agricultural industry and the best agricultural soils to “preserve the cultural, social, economic, environmental and aesthetic amenities provided by agricultural land use;”
 - Active County programs and policies to preserve open space and farmland;
 - Density transfers from agricultural and open space areas to designated growth areas within a planning district, and the concept of Purchase of Development Rights;
 - The budgeting and expenditure of county funds for agricultural land preservation programs including the strengthening of Agricultural and Forestal Districts.
